I direct and photograph releases for artists, and campaigns for the labels and brands around them. I write and produce records too, so every project starts with listening.

Four ways to work

I Creative direction & artist development
For artists with a record underway. We decide how it looks and how it comes out, release by release, and I direct the shoots and artwork that carry it.

II Album campaigns
Art direction and photography for a record: the concept, the cover, press images, lyric visuals and the rollout, with a team built for it.

III Release shoots
One directed shoot for a release, a tour or a new chapter: planning, the shoot, and a retouched set for press, streaming and social.

IV Label & brand campaigns
For labels, ensembles and brands: the idea, the casting, the crew, the shoot days and a delivered library, with usage agreed up front.

A project goes in four steps: I listen to the music, plan the direction and the team, shoot, and deliver retouched files sized for every placement, with the usage in writing.
